BUILD SIDEWALKS

FIRE TRUCK IS DELAYED

Company Writes of Material Being Held Up in Transit—Council Transacts Routine Business.

A short session of the city council last night developed little but routine business, other than the acceptance of a bid from James Kazekas, of Omaha, for the construction of about five blocks of cement sidewalks. The walks to be built are abutting property where owners have failed to comply with an ordinance passed by the council and locations of which have been given in these columns previously. The Omaha contractor's bid was the only one presented and was for fourteen cents a square foot, for four foot walks, that being the width of all that will be built. There will be a special meeting of the council next Thursday night to accept bond from Mr. Kazekas so that the work may start at once and to avoid delay that may be caused by freezing weather later.

Applications were presented from Conrad Sweitzer and Yeo Bros., for license for pool rooms now being operated.

A letter was read the council by Clerk Howland, from Obenchain-Boyer Co., Logansport, Ind., in which they stated that work was being rushed as fast as possible on the new motor fire truck which has been purchased by the city. The delay, they said, was due to inability to get material. It is expected the new automobile truck will be ready for delivery about December 1. The fire committee made no report concerning the fire station, following the information presented at the last meeting that the house was in need of repair.

The collector's report for September showed a total of $482.00 collected by the various departments of the city. The vehicle tax for the month was given at $92.95. Members present at the meeting were Mayor A. S. Robey, and councilmen M. A. Hahn, F. E. Orcutt, O. O. Howard, and M. A. Peery.

SOLDIERS LIBRARY FUND

Member of Library Board Anxious That Nodaway Subscribe Apportionment of $1,500.

With the soldier boys in the various concentration camps clamoring for reading matter, there being a scarcity of books and magazines the local library board is co-operating with the national organization in an effort to raise a million dollar fund to be expended for this purpose. Judge R. L. McDougal, of the local board together with other members are circulating a subscription list and a few small amounts have been received. It is hoped that Nodaway county's apportionment of $1,500 for this fund may be secured at an early date. Besides the lists that are in the hands of library board members, a subscription list is at the Democrat-Forum office and those who desire to aid this fund may do so.

Tomorrow at the First Christian church Sunday school will be promotion and rally day for all classes. For the lesson hour the various classes will devote most of the time to organization and to planning such activities as may be decided on for the winter months.

It is hoped to have an attendance that will reach the 500 mark.

A RECEPTION AT CHURCH

Rev. and Mrs. Cox and Dr. and Mrs. Burris Welcomed For Third Time By Congregation and Friends.

In the prettily decorated parlors of the First Methodist church, Rev. and Mrs. Gilbert S. Cox and Dr. and Mrs. W. F. Burris were honor guests at a reception given last night. Golden and rose colored autumn leaves made gay the primary class room, which was transformed into a reception hall. In the receiving line stood the members of the official board, a representative from the Ladies Aid society and a representative of the Brotherhood class.

A program which was fully enjoyed by all was the main feature of the evening's entertainment. Following the program, punch was served to the guests in the reception room by Mrs. E. M. Claypool and Mrs. Marve Curnutt, assisted by Misses Ilene Kemp, Gladys Ford, Helen Dean, Lucile Wright, and Josephine Wilderman. The remainder of the evening was devoted to games and music.

A large crowd which was in attendance was further proof of the gratification of the Maryville people at having Rev. and Mrs. Cox and Dr. and Mrs. Burris with them another year.

NODAWAY BANKERS TO MEET

Maryville bankers are going to entertain bankers from the smaller towns in the county at a luncheon at the Elks club Tuesday, October 11. The purpose of the meeting is to get better acquainted with each other and to discuss matters of mutual interest. It is expected, too, that some plan will be adopted for co-operation in interesting the people of Nodaway county in the second Liberty Loan, for which subscriptions are now being taken.

Invitations have been sent to officers and directors of all the banks in the county and it is expected that the meeting will be one of the most important ever held by Nodaway financiers. The committees in charge of the details have practically completed plans for the entertainment of the visiting bankers.

INSURANCE AGENTS MEET

Hold Informal Session Last Night to Discuss Local Conditions and the New Laws.

At an informal meeting of insurance men last night in the offices of Chas. E. Stilwell, local conditions were discussed pro and con, it being the desire of agents that local risks be given all protection possible. Some of the new insurance laws also came in for discussion, the different provisions, some of them, being unfamiliar to many solicitors. "A little educational meeting to familiarize ourselves with conditions and laws," was the way one insurance man expressed it.

It was pointed out that the purchase b ythe city of a new fire automobile truck will result in a lowering of the rate on new business for certain risks within a certain distance of fire headquarters.

M. H. S. OUTPLAYED BIGGEST SHOW YET

641 ENTRIES TO DATE IN CORN AND SCIENCE CLASSES.

TEAM PLAY IS LACKING

Hopes for a championship football team at the High School went a-glimmering yesterday afternoon when the M. H. S. eleven were defeated 13-0 by Stanberry High School.

The local team failed to show the form expected of it. There was not the smooth running offensive combination that was thought to have been developed from last season's play, nor did the men show any great ability in breaking up the opposing team's plays.

Stanberry, on the other hand, showed a strong line and a backfield that might do credit to a college team. Maryville was excelled in every department of the game, in spite of the fact that Stanberry had little more than a week's practice, and that without a coach.

Individual honors of the game must be divided between Kyger and T. Mulholland who did most of the ground gaining for Stanberry. These two men together with R. Mulholland and Jamison form a backfield which has played together for three years.

For Maryville Egley and Pierpoint were the stars. Lyle at tackle also put up a good game and Fisher at guard outplayed a much heavier opponent. The others played mediocre football. The absence of Kemp at left end severely handicapped the team, as Stanberry gained repeatedly around this end.

Stanberry's first touchdown came after less than five minutes of play. Maryville won the toss and chose to receive, defending the south goal. R. Mulholland kicked off and Pickens was downed almost in his tracks. Stanberry took the ball on downs. They made first down in two line plunges and then 15 yards more in the same way. With the ball on the twenty-five yard line, Kyger raced around left end for a touchdown. The punt-out was a failure and no try at goal was allowed. Score: Stanberry 6, Maryville 0.

There was no further scoring in the first quarter. Maryville's defense tightened somewhat. Each team made one first down. Maryville attempted two forward passes but they were incomplete.

Stanberry took the ball on downs and Kyger made thirty yards around right end. Stanberry made first down on plunges. Maryville then held and after a loss on an end run and an incomplete pass French kicked out of bounds on the thirty yard line. Stanberry again worked the ball back for twelve yards where Maryville held. An attempted place kick by R. Mulholland was blocked and Lyle recovered the ball on the thirty yard line.

Maryville began to play good football. Egley received a forward pass for a twenty yard gain. Pickens and Pierpoint made first down on line plunges. A penalty on Stanberry for offside play gave Maryville another ten yards. The half ended with Maryville in possession of the ball on Stanberry's thirty yard line.

The third quarter was a repetition of

SMOKERS WILL PAY MORE

New War Tax Law May Advance Retail Price of Cigars, Cigarettes And Tobaccos.

If you are an habitual smoker now is the time to lay in your supply of smokes, for it is a ten-to-one shot that before another week has passed cigars and cigarettes will cost considerably more at retail than they now do.

There doesn't seem to be, however, any justifications in the law for any very great advances in the retail prices of cigars and cigarettes.

Analyzed, the new tax law means that the nickel cigar shall be taxed 1 mill each and that the 10-cent cigar shall be taxed 3 mills while the 25-cent cigar shall be taxed 7 mills. By the same analysis a box of ten cigarettes, which now sell at 10 cents will bear a tax of 8 mills government tax. Only the much heavier priced cigarettes, heavier in quantity and of a finer quality of tobacco, come under the classification which bear a tax of 1 1-5 cent per package of ten.

BREAD EXPERT C MING

Miss Garray, Government Demonstrator Will Be Here Next Week to Show How War Bread Is Made.

The liberal cash prizes that are offered exhibitors in the corn and domestic science show that will be held November 1-3 has served in large measure, to increase the number of exhibitors over any previous year, as with the show yet a month off, 641 entries have been received at the office of County Superintendent Bert Cooper and every mail brings still others. Nearly every one of the 180 rural schools in the county will have from one to fifty or more exhibitors. Of the number already received the girls are in the majority with 364 entries, while 277 boys have already sent entry notices.

The rural schools are announcing their annual fairs and exhibits for this month and exhibits shown at the various schools will be preserved for exhibition in the different classes here.

The announcement in the catalog that a "war bread" contest will be a feature of the November show has caused much comment. The making and using of war bread has government approval because it has been found to mean a conservation of wheat flour, and for the reason that it is quite as healthful and nutritious as bread made entirely of wheat flour.

Government Demonstrator Here.

In this connection Miss Leta Gray, a government demonstrator, whose headquarters are in St. Joseph, has been secured for demonstrating the making of war bread and to talk on food production and conservation. Two dates only were available at this time and on next Friday afternoon Miss Gray will give a demonstration at Highland school, southwest of Maryville. At night on the same day she will give a lecture at Knabb school, northwest of the city. On Saturday afternoon, October 13, Miss Gray will give a bread demonstration and food talk at the First Methodist church under the auspices of the Ladies Aid societies. The demonstration and talk is free and all who are interested, are invited to attend, especially wives of farmers and those who live in the rural districts.

HOSPITAL UNIT REPORTS

An average attendance of seventeen members was had at each of the twelve meetings of the Hospital unit of the National Surgical Dressings association which were held from May 2 till October 1, of this year. The Hospital unit will discontinue these meetings, and take up the Red Cross work.

The following financial report of this unit was submitted by the secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Katherine Romasser: Dues paid by the active members were $77; dues paid by the honorary members were $11; donations $3; making a total of $91. Expenditures amounted to $57.39 and the balance on hand is $33.61, which is to be held in trust as an emergency fund. All material on hand will be donated to the Red Cross societies.

WEBER TRIAL CONTINUES

Evidence Being Presented This Afternoon — Hope to Have Jury Verdict Tonight.

The libel case of Clyde McMillen against Henry Weber, of Clearmont is still being heard in circuit court, all the evidence not having been presented until late this afternoon, when the jury was given instructions.

McMillen is suing for $10,000 actual and $10,000 punitive damages against Weber. The petition alleges that Weber wrote of the plaintiff: "He forged my name to checks for the amount of over $200, kept from two to four horses in my barn and stole my feed to feed them."

This is the second of the Weber cases to have final trial, a third case being non-suited by the plaintiff. In a report of the jury verdict yesterday in the case tried it was erroneously stated the verdict was in favor of the defendant when it should have read plaintiff.

BOND CAMPAIGN IS STARTED

Several Voluntary Subscriptions Have Been Received — Hope to Interest Small Investors Here.

With the campaign in Maryville hardly started for the sale of second Liberty Loan bonds there have been a number of small subscriptions reported, totalling two or three thousand dollars. So far the subscriptions have come voluntarily. It is realized, however, that owing to the fact that all the bonds sold during the first campaign were purchased in this manner this rich community did not measure up to its proper standard. Therefore an effort will be made during the next few weeks to impress upon the investors of this county the desirability of taking Liberty Loan bonds.

Joseph Jackson, Jr., who is in charge of the work in this county, today received a letter from I. A. Vant, president of the St. Joseph Clearing House association telling of a meeting of bankers from all Northwest Missouri, held yesterday. At this time it was decided that an active campaign must be instituted at once if this section of the state were to produce as is expected.

Circulars containing information may be obtained at any bank in the county. There is also much available material at the publicity headquarters at the Maryville Commercial Club.

It is altogether possible that much of the red tape which accompanied the first Liberty Loan will be eliminated in this campaign. A movement is under way, according to advices from the Kansas City Reserve Bank, that will make it possible for bonds to be delivered direct to purchasers without formal filing of application and long wait for delivery. This plan caused much extra bookkeeping and office labor and for this reason must be cut off.

DEATH OF NOBLE KLAAS

SENATOR DEFENDS COURSE BEFORE BODY

"Power Nor Clamor of Mob" Could Not Turn Him, He Declares in Impassioned Speech.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Washington, Oct. 6.—Bitterly denouncing what he termed the "war party" in the United States, defending his own course and public utterances in the strongest of language and fairly shouting that "neither the voice of power nor the clamor of a mob" would turn him from his planned course, Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin for three hours today presented his views on the war and on pacifism directly to his Senate colleagues. "Libel" and "character assassination" were the two terms that he used most frequently in his speech.

The probability of a prolonged and perhaps bitter debate over LaFollette was removed when the Senate concurred in the house resolution to adjourn at three o'clock. No sooner had Senator LaFollette completed his speech to the Senate than President Wilson replied in a statement commending the work of the Congress that was about to adjourn and directly refuting LaFollette's accusations.

The special subcommittee authorized yesterday by the Senate to investigate Senator LaFollette's St. Paul speech will consist of Senators Pomerren, Walsh, James, Dillingham and Fall. It was announced today that the committee would meet Monday.

Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, launched a bitter attack on Senator LaFollette this afternoon, calling upon him to resign or to apply to the Kaiser for his seat in the Bundsrath.

U. S. MAKES OWN CHEMICALS

We Are Independent of Germany Now, With Many Drug Secrets Having Been Discovered.

New York, Oct. 6.—By far the largest and most complete exhibition of its kind ever held in the world is open to the public in this city at the Grand Central Palace. It is the third annual exposition of chemical industries. In the exposition at the Palace is presented the greatest collection of exhibits of chemical industries ever made. It really represents the lifting of the veil of mystery that has heretofore surrounded the chemist's work, and the disclosure of the secrets of the manufacture of gunpowder, paper and pulp, asphalt, fertilizer, dyestuffs and numerous other products of the chemist's ingenuity.

To a large extent the European war is responsible for the exposition, which represents the efforts that have been made to meet emergencies resulting from lack of products formerly shipped to this country from foreign laboratories. That the American chemist has succeeded in effectively producing some of the things for which several years ago we looked to the European markets is now generally granted. The displays at the Palace emphasize this fact. During the last three years, leading chemists and scientists declare, this country has made advances in chemical industries equivalent to the progress made in Germany in fifty years, and America, it can now be said, is absolutely independent of foreign countries in this field.

Women In The War

By G. KAY SPENCER

"For Old England."

"Mystery reigns along the shores
And wounded land from foreign wars."

From a prosaic nation of shopkeepers, Albion is breeding a race of heroes.

The singular metamorphosis that transmutes a quiet, meek little London tailor or clerk to a brawny, element-hardened husky, who meets the steel of Spartan-trained armies in the supreme test—and conquers—is one of the inexplicable developments of this war.

While Flanders sucks the life blood of the noblest armies of them all, London listens—and hears the thunder of British guns "out there."

Those deep-throated mammoths are the "Gods of Attrition" and the first line of England's defense.

The second line of defense rides the waters of the world. No ensign flies so high nor so far as the "Union Jack."

There is another line.

The women of the United Kingdom man the forges and foundries of Britain from Kirkwall to Dover. They insure the delivery of the sinews of war to the heroic descendants of that "thin red line," who fight as Englishmen have always fought — with honor and glory—on the sands of the Sahara, the crests of the Alps or the Tibetian plateaus.

The women have also entered the military.

The Women's Volunteer Reserve, organized by Viscountess Castlereagh (now Marchioness of Londonderry), whose object is to defend the shores of the nation against the possible invasion of the Germans, is about to acquire the honor of becoming an integral part of the British army system.

To the marvelous organizing ability of the Marchioness of Londonderry is due this unique women's organization. With her second in command, the Hon. Evelina Haverfield, the Marchioness has developed the W. V. R. until they are much more efficient than the so-called "Territorials" were when the great war struck. They are proficient in the regular army drill manual. All the officers have attained their positions solely on merit.

They have had the aid of regular army officers, but these gradually withdrew as the women developed officers of their own.

A tremendous impetus was given the youthful organization when, through the death of her father-in-law, Lady Castlereagh became Marchioness of Londonderry. Society flocked to her colors only to find that commissions could not be bought — and then, curiously enough, they set out to work for them. There is many a prominent society woman serving in the ranks with servants of her own establishment.

The Marchioness received the official attention of Lord Kitchener, when he recommended her as the colonel-in-chief for the very good and sufficient reason that he desired the command to go to a leader willing to accept the guidance of the Government. Mrs. Pankhurst is said to have been more or less disappointed at this turn, but she lost no time in grieving — instead she loyally supported the legion of Amazons.

The age limit for the organization was fixed at 18 to 40. The big drill hall of Knightsbridge was loaned and drilling in the military arts has continued ever since.

It might be mentioned that all the officers of the W. V. R. have passed successfully the Royal Army examinations for their rank.

The purpose in applying an official status to the W. V. R. would be for the effect in case of an actual invasion any time in this or future wars—for it is to be a permanent organization. If they were no official body an enemy would be justified in dealing with them as franc-tireursor snipers. An official standing merely allows to them treatment under the war codes for official armed enemy forces.

While there seems to be not the remotest fear of invasion, either now or in the years to come, it is felt that in case of any internal disruption occurring through malignant internal forces or enemy air raids, a body of healthy, straight thinking, well-officered and trained women would be of inestimable aid.

The colonel-in-chief of the W. V. R. never identified herself with the militant suffragettes, but her chief aid, Mrs. Haverfield, was a leader among them, driving her dog-cart through the London streets bearing flaming placards, "Votes for Women!" and having — with evident enjoyment — numerous fights with the police and the rabble.

SEEK BANDIT'S TREASURE

Whole Village in Hunt for Cache Where Thousands are Believed to be Hidden.

By International News Service.

Orin Junction, Wyo., Oct. 6. — A treasure as elusive as that cached by the famed Captain Kidd is stirring this village, and many persons are engaged in "digging for gold" on a desolate sweep of plain south of here.

A decrepit and bent old man made his appearance in Orin Junction recently, and day after day he was seen to wend his way, with pick and spade, to the unfrequented spot. Soon the story leaked out, and small groups began to emulate the strenuous digging being done by the stranger.

According to the narrative related by the searchers, two bandits held up a train in Texas twenty years ago, securing $40,000 worth of gold bullion. With government agents hot on their trail, the two made tracks for the North. They boarded a stock train that ended its journey here, when the stockman decided to trail his cattle overland. Fearing capture when they were forced to leave the train in an unknown country, the robbers buried their fortune in yellow metal, taking a detailed diagram of the surrounding topography and mailing it to the mother of one of the fugitives.

In a desperate fight that followed upon the two men being overtaken by Federal officers, one of the men was killed. The other was returned to Texas, where he was recently released after serving a long prison sentence.

Making his way to Wyoming, the survivor of the two discovered that during the years he had been confined in a prison cell railroad building and other developments had entirely changed the landmarks that indicated the spot where the gold had been buried.

Although chances of finding the treasure were slight, the old man spent many hours digging. When his story had been learned he was joined by many of the townspeople and excitement over the supposed buried fortune was running high when the stranger suddenly disappeared.

Whether he had succeeded in finding any of the long buried swag is unknown, but many Orin Junction folks are still digging.

KEET KIDNAPPING CASE ON

Marshfield, Mo., Oct. 6.—In the same court room where Walter Dipley, slayer of Stanley Ketchel, world's champion middleweight pugilist, was convicted and sentenced to a life term in the Missouri penitentiary, suspects in the Baby Keet kidnapping case will go to trial Monday.

Rumors that a Springfield mob will attempt to lynch Claude J. Piersol, the 29-year-old leader of the alleged kidnapping band, at the trial has caused officials to make renewed preparations for the safety of the prisoner.

In addition to Piersol, Taylor B. Adams and his son Cletus Adams are charged with stealing the baby. They are also charged with plotting to abduct C. A. Clement, wealthy Springfield jeweler. Other defendants in this latter charge are: Mrs. Taylor Adams, Maxie Adams, Dick Carter and Sam McGinnis. The trio connected with the Keet case charges will go to trial first.

One of the important efforts of the State will center upon the handwriting in the letters written to J. Holland Keet, father of the murdered baby, demanding $6,000 ransom, shortly after the child was stolen, May 30, last. Subpoenas have been issued for 102 persons including handwriting experts.

Judge C. H. Skinner of Bolivar, will be on the bench. The defense will attempt to establish alibis for Piersol, Adams and the latter's son. Relatives and friends will be placed on the stand in an effort to account for every minute of the defendants' time on the night of the kidnapping.

The maximum penalty for kidnapping in Missouri is life imprisonment, the last legislature having abolished capital punishment.

MEATLESS DAYS COMING?

Maryville Man Says People Will Have to Economize More Than They Have.

Meatless days must come. This is the opinion of a Maryville man who has been watching the events of the war here at home. Not only is wheat, sugar and other articles of food being conserved, but the move to save on meat has been started.

It is absolutely essential that the public take part in the general program of conserving our food supplies. The needs of the United States and our allies must be taken care of by daily sacrifices on the part of everyone. There must be a general saving at every possible point. Food is growing scarcer in the allied countries. The mighty armies as well as the women and children who are not in the trenches must be fed. Few crops have been raised the past two years in several of the belligerent countries, who are now almost solely dependent upon this country for their food supply.

There was a time a while ago when most people in this country thought there was an abundance of sugar in the country but this it not true and now Herbert Hoover, food commissioner, has sent out a warning to people they must cut down on the amount of sugar they use. Probably the price of sugar will be fixed at eight and a third cents, which is plenty high enough. The problem in the future will not be so much as what foods will cost, as whether we can get enough for our needs.

Little wheat is moving from the customary sources of supply and the difficulties in the way of getting a normal crop abroad are increasing. The European crop is 200,000,000 bushels short of what is should be. Our allies will need more than 300,000,000 bushels in excess of what we can send them. It makes no difference how much wheat Russia may have, for it cannot be shipped.

Miss Anna Cornell of Burlington Junction was in Maryville on business yesterday.

For Burning Eczema

Greasy salves and ointments should not be applied if good clear skin is wanted. From any druggist for 35c, or $1.00 for extra large size, get a bottle of zemo. When applied as directed it effectively removes eczema, quickly stops itching, and heals skin troubles, also sores, burns, wounds and chafing. It penetrates, cleanses and scothes. Zemo is a clean, dependable and inexpensive, penetrating, antiseptic liquid. Try it, as we believe nothing you have ever used is as effective and satisfying.

Shop In The Morning Whenever You Can

The Commercial Economy Board suggests that people should shop in the morning if possible

The Reason is This:———

Every store must always keep a sufficient number of men and women employed to meet the greatest pressure on a store's selling and delivery system—no matter when that pressure comes.

It generally comes between eleven o'clock in the morning and four o'clock in the afternoon, according to scientific investigation. Practically all these people are employed for the entire day and consequently many of them have little to do before the very active business hours.

If every store's business were spread out more evenly over the day, as is so in other lines, many men and women, who now must wait for you to come at eleven or two or three, could be doing something else, filling other positions or helping the government which needs so many men and women these days.

It would save a lot of money in the cost of doing a retail business —and every saving in the cost of doing business helps lower the price of merchandise.

Most of the Maryville stores have received their lines of fall and winter merchandise. And the goods are wonderful, too. You only have to read the advertising columns of the Democrat-Forum week by week in order to find out the firms which have new goods that will interest you. Often times these goods may be bought at substantial savings, if you will only watch for the announcements in this paper.

Why, Everyone Knows that Rummage Is not Rummage

(Kate Schenck)

Talk about shopping on the plate glass circuit!

Why it takes a roll of bills the size of an army blanket to get in on the base line. No woman can hope to make the third or fourth trench 'til Maryville has an oil strike and every woman has a mushroom millionaire husband.

Now, there is one thing for which a cure has never been found and never will. That is the shopping habit in women.

So, while waiting for the m. m. husband, one can go to the rummage sale.

It isn't always up to the minute from Broadway stuff, but every one knows that rummage doesn't mean rummage.

Kansas City had one last week and the vanilla-flavored-whipped-cream of society attended and purchased. Of course it was for the benefit of the Sammees "somewhere" in the big world. Mrs. Brown bought a fine bronze candelabra which Mrs. Jones sent because it didn't match her new library furniture, and Mrs. Smythe found a lovely set of furs which Mrs. de Forrest couldn't wear any more for they didn't harmonize with her latest hair dye.

It's no ordinary shop, a rummage sale shop. If the wares could speak there would be enough tragedy, comedy and romance to pay a five year salary for Mary Pickford or Pauline Frederick.

There is the pair of shoes Bob wore two seasons back when he carried the green and white to victory in the b. b. tournament. Now, Bob is aiming his bail for a Hun instead of a basket.

Then Mrs. Green made an extra lot of that plum conserve for she expected John's two sisters to visit her this summer and help eat it. They didn't come and the Green children never were real fond of plum "spreads" so six glasses went to the rummage.

That floor vase (pronounced with the long a when it costs more than 59 cents), with the yellow roses didn't look well in Mrs. Algernon Fish's mauve parlor, so she gave it to the Christian church women when they collected rummage.

See the funny little brown spots on the collar of that white baby coat. You and I don't know, but the coat knows that they are tear stains. When mother put that in she remembered the soft chubby form which she wrapped the coat about. The baby is a sturdy school boy now, and the memory tears from babyland went to the rummage, too.

And there is that blue chinchilla coat with the fur collar. Mary Elizabeth wore that the night Jack told her the new old story. Maybe Jack didn't tell it as gracefully as Francis Bushman could screen it with Beverly Bayne. But Jack could make love alright. The coat knows. It felt the loving.

Last week when Jim sold the pig and bought a Ford, he had enough left for Mrs. Jim to buy one of those new breakfast sets up at Schumachers. Mr. and Mrs. Jim had eaten their honeymoon breakfasts off those dishes and there were kisses with the grapefruit, kisses with — it isn't fair to pretend that breakfast set is gossiping since it came to the rummage sale.

Could the most adamantine soul known call such things rummage.

The women of the First Christian church held one Friday and Saturday and were very successful. The sales are held semi-annually.

But how many dollars worth of pain and pleasure, of sorrow and joy, of prosperity and adversity was wrapped up with the goods?

THE NEW PLAN IS A SUCCESS

The fifth demonstration of the work of pupils in the new plan of vitalized agriculture was given at Mt. Pleasant school last night before some thirty or forty patrons of the community. The first demonstration of the plan took place at the Glendale school, the second at the Lasher, the third at Elm Grove and the fourth at Belle Grove.

The pupils of Mt. Pleasant school proved to the audience that this work of vitalized agriculture is not a myth or dream, but a reality, and is here to stay.

The boys and girls have gone into the fields, and determined by actual count the loss in dollars and cents to the farmer as a result of improper planting. Prof. Bert Cooper explained the nature of the new work.

Members of the class taking part in the demonstration last night were: Cleo Holt, who read a poem, "The Calf Path," Miss Edith Schoonover told how the class had determined the stand of corn in various fields. Iva McDowell talked on "What is Good Seed," and Hazel Harrington discussed "Plant and Enemies." Alene Holt explained the advantage of testing seed corn and Lyrrel Stafford read a composition on a silo trip.

The program closed with a demonstration of tying seed corn a new way. The patrons were more than pleased with the program, and expressed an earnest desire that the work be continued. Miss Jennie Pugh is teacher of the school.

Leave For New Field.

Griffith preached his farewell sermon at the Baptist church Sunday night, and Rev. McNamee dismissed services at the Methodist church that his congregation might attend the service in a body. The people of the Hazel Dell church also gave Rev. Griffith and wife a farewell reception at the parsonage last Friday night Both Mr. Griffith and his wife were very popular with our people and will be missed in many ways.—Hopkins Journal.

Canning At Home

Peach Butter.

Peach butter is one of the most delicious of fruit butters.

In making peach butter, put the peaches in a wire basket and dip them in boiling water a few seconds until the skin slips; test by raising the fruit out of the water and rubbing the skin between the fingers. Dip the peaches into cold water, peel and pit them. Well-ripened freestone varieties are best. Mash the pulp and cook it in its own juice without adding water. If it is rather coarse, put it through a colander or coarse wire sieve to make a butter of fine texture. To each measure of pulp add a half a measure of sugar, cook slowly, and stir frequently until the product is of the desired thickness. The meats of several pits may be cooked either whole or sliced in each gallon of butter. While still hot, pack in sterilized jars or glasses with tight-fitting tops and sterilize in covered container for five minutes for quart or smaller sized jars and 10 minutes for half gallon or larger jars. Begin to count time when the steam starts to escape If the sterilizing method is not used then the jars may be covered with hot paraffin to prevent spoilage.

Peach Butter with Dried and Canned Peaches.—When ripe peaches are not available, peach butter can be made from dried and canned peaches. To each two pounds of dried peaches use one quart of canned peaches. Soak the dried peaches in water several hours and cook until tender. Add the canned peaches and rub the pulp through a colander or wire sieve. Stir 1¼ pounds of sugar into this pulp and cook slowly, stirring often, for two hours or until the right thickness. Pack while hot and sterilize like peach butter.

GUARD FOR JUDGE LINDSEY

Juvenile Judge Lindsey now holds court behind locked and barred doors, which, in turn, are guarded by stalwart attaches of his tribunal, says the Rocky Mountain News. Nobody ever sees the judge enter or leave his court room. This he does by a secret passage at unexpected times. Court sessions are no longer attended by numerous spectators. The judge keeps to his private chambers, from which a concealed door leads to the secret passage, and all matters are heard there. One cannot see the judge or talk to him until one has first stated his business, name and various other particulars concerning the visit. Then one needs must wait until a court attache communicates with the judge over a private telephone. Then, maybe, one doesn't get to see the judge.

If one wears skirts one has even more difficulty. And there is a reason for it.

The other night, according to rumor, a mysterious woman entered the judge's room. The judge was alone, so was the woman.

According to the tale of the event the woman picked up a large glass tumbler and would have smashed it into a thousand pieces on the judge's head. An attache entered the room by the secret door. It was all over in an instant. The tumbler never descended. Other attaches rushed to the hescue, summoned by a secret signal The judge was safe.

The woman, according to the story, has been hounding the judge for some time, trying to persuade him to compel her former husband to support her minor daughter.

The next day, according to a story given out by the judge, a half dozen court attaches flanked him and guarded him when he took up the day's business, fearful that another attack would ensue.

Judge Ben Lindsey was one of the lecturers on this summer's chautauqua circuit and visited Maryville, when he gave some interesting information concerning his juvenile court.

With the celebration of its 53rd birthday the Gallatin North Missourian mentions this notable fact: That three men, now past 80 years of age, who were at some time or other connected with the publication of the Missourian are still living. They are D. L. Kost, Gentry, Ark.; J. W. Powell, Chillicothe, Mo., and J. T. Day, Gallatin, Mo. Ed Howe, the famous editor of the Atchison Globe, was also at one time a type-setter on the Missourian's force.

Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Goodson and daughter, Katherine of Ravenwood, were in Maryville today.

NEWS FROM ALL NORTHWEST MISSOURI

The new consolidated school district at Gaynor is likely to use rented quarters for many months as a result of the election of last week when the voters of the merged districts defeated the $10,000 bond issue for a high school building by a vote of 75 to 43. The opposition developed over the choice of a site.

A small crop of peaches is credited by the Trenton Republican to the trees of Lewis Hickman, of Spickard and those of Jas. Lothian of Galt.

An informant of the Princeton Post, after traveling over all parts of Mercer county, declares that there is now ripening in that county the biggest corn crop raised there for many years.

Almost unanimously a mass meeting of Oregon citizens last week instructed their city council to contract for electric current with the St. Joseph Transmission Company and thereafter to abandon any further effort to produce current in the old municipal plant.

The first instance in which the state has revoked a motorist's license occurred recently in Livingston county. A reckless driver, having already caused several accidents will no longer be permitted to drive a car in the state of Missouri. The action was taken at the instance of the prosecuting attorney.

Accompanying her husband to St. Joseph had a load of lambs a DeKalb county woman saw the city last week for the first time, says the Maysville Herald. Though she had lived in that county, within a few miles of St. Joseph, for forty years this woman had never visited the metropolis of Northwest Missouri.

Considerable land is changing hands in Atchison county, reports the Rock Port correspondent of the Tarkio Avalanche, at prices ranging from $135 to $175 an acre.

An entire page of interesting letters from Andrew county boys now serving their country makes a notable feature in the Savannah Reporter and brings news from Pershing's force in France, from the Missouri Ambulance Unit, from a battleship on the Atlantic, from the fortifications in the Panama Canal Zone and from Camp Clark, Nevada. These letters growing out of the war, form at once a comfort and a liberal education to those who must fight the battles at home.

The annual fall festival and stock show is in progress this week, October 2 to 6, at Gallatin. The exhibits are placed in a large tent, since the open air plan has proved unsatisfactory in former years.

On ground that was formerly in alfalfa a Ray county watermelon grew to the mammoth size of 65 pounds and its grower, J. W. George, presented it to the editor of the Richmond Missourian.

Chicken stealing has received a setback at Liberty. For many weeks, says the Advance, no chicken of frying size has been safe. But last Sunday night Will Carey, hearing a squawk from his hen house, grabbed his gun and was soon in a hand-to-hand tussle with a big negro. The thief got away but left his hat and Carey also got a fairly good description of him by using a flashlight, and John Saunders is now behind the bars having admitted that the hat was his.

Because he leaned far out of the car to see if the tires were down Bert Davis of Eagleville was thrown from the car. An X-Ray examination of his injury shows a broken vertebra which will probably necessitate a trip to New York and will require him to lie many weeks in a plaster cast.

Work on the new cut-off which will eliminate the Tuggle hills from the Jefferson Highway near Eagleville was begun last Tuesday, reports the correspondent of the Bethany Republican, and all will shout for joy when the terrible Tuggle hills are laid aside.

That lightning does strike twice in the same place was proved at Forest City last week to the sorrow of Henry Vandever. His house had been struck by lightning before and last Tuesday he had just left home to go to his work when a bolt of lightning tore away the entire north end of his dwelling, says the News, and only by strange good fortune did the family escape serious injury.

Since his acceptance by the local draft board for military service Joe Saunders of Grant City has been presented by his wife with legal grounds for exemption—a daughter. The little girl made affidavit Sunday morning that she was dependent upon him for support, declares the Times, and Joe will likely be exempted.

Although confessing that Maitland is short on bee stories this season, the Herald tells of the operations of a local firm that has built up a good business in removing swarms from houses, churches and other inappropriate places, and reports that from the house of Chas. Glenn, the other day, they ousted a big swarm and took 200 pounds of honey.

Fourteen feet high with two good ears, the lowest of which is eight feet from the ground, is the description by the Hopkins Journal of a corn stalk exhibited by Wm. McMaster.

The record price—$275.40—for one fat steer on the St. Joseph market was captured last week by Fred Glauser of Tarkio with a steer weighing 1,620, and selling at 17 cents a pound. This steer, says the Avalanche, was fattened on alfalfa and corn and made an average gain of 2½ pounds a day.

A group of young folks in the Lathrop Christian Sunday school call themselves the "Who Do Class" and thus far the name has not been unlucky.

The highest price ever paid for beef cattle west of the Mississippi River was received by Bruce Williams of Plattsburg for 51 head of fat steers at the Kansas City market when they were bought at $17 a hundredweight. The animals, weighing 1477 pounds each averaged $251 a head and were bought last fall weighing 1040 and at a cost of $80 a head.

A shortage of barbers has resulted from the draft at Gallatin, says the North Missourian. Six months ago there were six shops with thirteen men at work, while now there are but four shops with eight men.

Several boxes of home-grown strawberries were on the market at Savannah last week, says the Reporter. The pint boxes sold at 15 cents each. John Rea was the grower and his offering consisted of ten pints.

A new oil well on the David Buist farm near Excelsior Springs shows evidence of being a good prospect, says the Standard. While drilling for water the drillers struck gas at a depth of 234 feet, passing through 25 feet of gas sand. The pressure has grown greater every day and when lighted shoots a roaring blaze ten feet into the air.

A student in the Grant City high school last week distinguished himself, according to the Times, and proved himself almost qualified to enter college by eating more wienies than any two other persons at a picnic of the entire school.

By a vote of 176 to 21 the citizens of Mound City have discontinued the municipal operation of the water works pumping station and have given the contract to the local power plant.

Presence of mind saved Bruce Bullock of Holt county from paying the extreme penalty for absent-mindedness. Such is the paradox of human nature. On a night trip to Nodaway station Bullock ran short of gasoline and stopped at a neighbor's to replenish his supply. He used a lantern to light his task and had scarcely started to fill his tank when the gas ignited and both car and owner was wrapped in flames. Then it was that presence of mind asserted itself and Bullock threw the can of gasoline from him and stood his ground until he had screwed the cap on the tank. Though severely burned he saved his life and prevented the car from undergoing worse damage than the loss of the upholstery from the front seat.

The 760 motor cars in Ray county are all running these days—especially on Sundays, says the Richmond Missourian.

Our prayer meeting died about two weeks ago, said a Maysville man to the Herald editor, continuing that there were just two persons out to attend the funeral. Prayer meetings are straws—they indicate the direction of the spiritual wind in a community, reflects Editor Ficklin.

The little town of Berlin in Gentry county is the smallest town the Maysville Herald knows anythjng about that maintains a winter lecture course of five numbers. Its population is officially rated at 60 persons, old and young, yet this town has a Sunday school at which the average attendance throughout the past summer was 160.

A man has returned to Maysville who confides to the Herald that it was so dry out in Kansas this summer that they had to soak the hogs to make them hold slop.

Though 85 years of age, Mrs. Nancy Livingston of Cosby is doing her bit toward conservation. She has made 16 gallons of kraut, 10 gallons of pickles and jellies and jams in proportion.

A bush of cockleburs was brought to the Richmond Missourian by a farmer who was not proud to exhibit it as grown on his farm, but astonished that such a big plant could spring from the meagre soil where he found it. Its branches were five feet long yet it grew on the top of a huge rock with only two inches of good soil about its roots. That illustrates, says the editor, the way that sin flourishes without cultivation.

Work was begun last week on the new power plant for Park College at Parkville. The new building will be fire-proof, says the Gazette, and will be a handsome addition to the business section of Parkville.

Forty per cent more wheat than last year is the acreage of sowing in the vicinity of Bigelow as reported to the Oregon Sentinel.

the first. French kicked off for Maryville. Stanberry received the ball on their twenty yard line and returned it for a gain of twenty yards. Kyger made 25 yards around right end. Stanberry made two first downs and Kyger again went around right end for twenty yards and a touchdown. The punt-out was successful and R. Mulholland kicked goal. Score: Stanberry, 13; Maryville 0.

Stanberry again threatened to score in the fourth quarter but Maryville held for downs and kicked out of danger. A thirty yard end run by Pierpoint followed by a 15 yard pass to Egley, put Maryville in a position in this quarter but they lost the ball on an intercepted pass.

Wray and Egley were hurt in a scrimmage near the end of the fourth quarter and both left the game. Price took Egley's end and Miller was shifted to the backfield. Fisher took left end and King went at guard.

The line-ups of the two teams as they started the game were as follows:

BIG SALE OF LIVE STOCK.

261 Head Will Go At Auction To Settle Matt Whiteford Estate.

One of the biggest public sales to be held in the county this month is announced for Wednesday, October 17, when 261 head of live stock will be sold at executor's sale at the Matthew Whiteford place, one-half mile south of Guilford. Included in the live stock is 36 cows, 18 young heifers, 32 calves, 94 steers, 2 bulls, 15 head of horses and mules and 64 hogs. The corn crop of 200 acres will also be sold.

First Car of Wheat From Barnard.

The first car of wheat shipped out of Barnard went Monday to the St. Joseph market. I. C. Roelofson was the shipper, says the Barnard Bulletin.

J. H. Berks of North Platte, Neb., is the guest of his sister, Mrs. J. E. Melvin, whom he has not seen for nineteen years. Mr. Berks and Mrs. Melvin are from a family of eleven children, and Mr. Berks is the only boy among ten girls.

Ravenwood Pupils Entered.

A great deal of interest is being manifested by the boys and girls at present in the Nodaway County Agricultural and Domestic Science contest, to be held in Maryville on November 1, 2 and 3, 1917. Seventy-two pupils enrolled in these contests including all the children between the ages of ten and eighteen. The parents are urged to encourage the pupils in their efforts, as we are expecting good returns from the Ravenwood schools in these contests.—Ravenwood Gazette.

Ships Shorthorn Cattle.

E. E. Carver shipped out 31 head of Shorthorn cattle to H. C. Lookabaugh, Watonga, Okla., last Thursday night, cattle that Mr. Carver had bought for him in this section. This is the fourth load Mr. Carver has shipped to him in the past 60 days. It seems that buyers from other states have to look to Missouri for fine stock of all kinds. —Guilford Times.
